

PROVISIONS GOVERNING COLORADO BREEDER'S CUP CLASSES

All entrants must meet eligibility qualifications as stated in the Colorado Breeder's Cup (CBC) Rules and Regulations.

Entries must be submitted on the official CBC entry form and the appropriate fees paid or certificate submitted with the entry form. Proof of registration and sire and dam are required. Entrants must meet the entry deadline when one is published on the CBC or Show web site. There will be no late entries after close of entries.

CBC entry fees do not include other required show entry fee, drug fees, stall fees, etc. A separate entry form may be required by the Show.

All exhibitors in CBC In Hand Classes must be amateurs and prepared to show proof of amateur status if required to do so.

A colt, upon being gelded, may be transferred to a gelding class at any time prior to close of entries.

All CBC classes shall be judged using the current Arabian Horse Association (AHA) judging system. If the CBC classes are held in conjunction with other show classes they will be judged concurrently. CBC entrants may show in any of the classes at that show for which they are eligible. CBC winners will be announced at the conclusion of each CBC class.

Junior horse performance classes will be open to CBC eligible horses that are three, four, and five years old. The tack and appointments and class requirements shall be as listed in the current AHA Handbook under "Tack and Appointments," "Judging" and "Class Specifications" articles for horses that are three, four, and five years old.

CBC entrants will be judged concurrently with show Junior Horse classes and winners announced at the conclusion of each CBC class. CBC entrants may show in any additional classes for which they are eligible.
